EDWARD C. HALPERIN, M.D., M.A.
CHANCELLOR AND CEO

\September 20th, 2016

Dear Colleagues,

New York Medical College is a community of scholars that exists for the generation, conservation, and dissemination of knowledge regarding the causes, prevention, and treatment of human disease and disability. There are many forces at work in society which seek to place other missions upon our agenda economic development, job creation, real estate development, social reform, and political involvement. While, to some extent, we are of necessity engaged in these activities it should not divert us from what we truly are: a community of scholars. Clear evidence of fulfilling our mission is the publication of knowledge in peer reviewed biomedical scientific journals and books. Discovery science is incomplete unless the information which is generated is communicated to others. At our annual recognition event, we celebrate this effort and our mission.

We celebrate, at the author recognition event, the transgenerational nature of our efforts. We seek, through publication, to communicate our findings to others and ultimately to make healthcare better for our grandchildren than it is for us.

This surely must be sacred work in the secular lives of humans.

Sincerely,

LILLIAN HETRICK HUBER ENDOWED DIRECTOR

There are many ways in which one may measure the quality of a university. Among them is the scholarly output of its faculty. Once again, our researchers at New York Medical College have produced voluminous scholarly output. We can be very proud of this research that is being produced at. This 2015 edition of the Bibliography and database is a record of all that we have to celebrate.

New this year is the availability of the Touro Scholar institutional repository, which will henceforth be the online home for Touro and NYMC manuscripts and supplemental research materials. While many faculty may be submitting their publications to various online repositories already, it is our goal to locally support open access in this way and make sure that we both highlight our institutions and provide free access to the documented research results produced by our faculty. By submitting to Touro Scholar you are submitting to a database you can trust will continue to exist long into the future, that your materials will be findable via internet search engines, that it will be free to all (if you choose), and that you do so in conjunction with your colleagues at NYMC and Touro.

Many thanks are due in particular to Nina Kurzban, who dedicated so many hours to the collection and production of the data that make up the NYMC portions of the publication and database, and to Rhonda Altonen, our Research Services Librarian at the Health Sciences Library staff, for pitching in when time got tight.

Above all, congratulations to all of our authors on an exceptional year in 2015. May you continue to produce the research evidence that keeps medicine and health sciences alive and ever-changing.

Regards,

Marie T. Ascher
